

Thailand Trip

Dan sets off for Thailand on Jan 16th for 3 weeks. He's traveling with a team who will be visiting tribal Churches that have been planted by New Tribes Mission.

It is difficult to imagine all that is involved in planting a Church among a people group that has no written language and live a totally different way of life from you and me. Most people have the concept that a missionary just arrives in a village and starts preaching the Bible. But the team will be exposed to both the difficulties and joys of tribal life and the best strategies for learning a tribal language and culture, doing Bible translation and seeing what it's like to live in such a remote village location.

Hi everyone, please don't be embarrassed at me being in the bath. I just wanted to show off my "beard" too. Oh yes, I'm now walking around and getting my hands into everything. Mum and Dad really have to keep an eye on me now.

Ben's Box

Rep Work

We have had a wonderful time visiting churches, Christian unions and Bible schools here and there in the UK. God has been ever faithful in providing for our needs throughout and we are very grateful for this and the safe journeys too. There have been good responses but we pray that those people who are stirred in their hearts about those who have never heard will commit to seeing the 'great commission' completed in our generation, and will be willing to join in this awesome task that God has given us to do.

Prayer
 Praise

- Pray for safety for Dan on his travels and that it will be a valuable time away
- Pray for strength and help for Rach and Ben as they stay at home
- Pray for further opportunities to share of the work of NTM particularly among the youth
- Pray that we will get on with all the prep. needed for the field whilst keeping our focus on the One who has called us to go.

Christmas

It's hard to believe that we have been back in Cardiff for six months already. Time seems to go quicker than ever and it's a strong reminder that we need to get cracking to get things organised before we leave for the mission field in 12 months time! We really had a special Christmas spending some quality time with our family and friends. The best thing of all was reflecting on our Saviour who came as a babe so that 'all men might be saved.'

Ben had no idea really what it was all about but thoroughly enjoyed tearing open presents and particularly playing with the wrapping paper and boxes that came along with the gifts!

New ventures

We are very much enjoying being back in our home church. Although we are often away taking meetings, it has been good to help out with some of the activities especially the Christmas outreach when many folks came in to hear the truth about Christmas in a relaxed, informal way. Dan also tried out a new white beard instead of his usual stubble! (if you don't know what we mean – see pic above). Dan is also hoping to be involved in prison ministry and has started a course which will allow him to do just that.
